

TO: Business & Operational Continuity Committee

Dear member,

We would like to make you aware that the FCA updated their pages on key workers and senior managers yesterday evening. They note that there has been no material change and the FCA would like to draw member attention to the relevant line: "It remains important for financial services firms to continue to identify and monitor key workers to ensure that firms respond effectively in the event of further local or national lockdowns". The FCA continue to encourage firms to follow government advice on working from home.

Members can find the short statement here. There was also an update from the PRA on key financial workers.

If members have any questions regarding this statement, please let either myself or Rogan know.

Thank you,
